U.S. Eagle Federal Credit Union Opens Regional Branch in Farmington

Farmington, NM – The EAGLE HAS LANDED permanently in the Four Corners region. U.S. Eagle Federal Credit Union announces the completion of their new branch that will serve as a regional hub for the Four Corners area. The state’s oldest credit union has opened their doors at 5600 East Main Street in Farmington to serve existing and new members in San Juan County.

“This new branch marks the completion of a goal that has been in our growth strategy for several years. We are excited to increase our community footprint and continue to serve Farmington and the Four Corners region,” stated Nancy Haines, Chair of the Board of Directors.

The new facility is located at the northeast corner of Piñon Hills Blvd and East Main Street, and employs nine people; five full time positions. “Our brand new Farmington facility serves as a regional hub for the Four Corners area and cements our dedication to San Juan County. The branch includes ample space to grow and meet the evolving needs of our members,” said U.S. Eagle President/CEO Marsha Majors.

The construction of the new branch was managed by NewGround who also designed the facility. More than 80% of the project was completed by local contractors. U.S. Eagle outgrew their branch on 3024 East Main Street and can now provide their members with an upgraded and convenient, new location. The new branch features a Tech Bar providing members with Wi-Fi connection and complimentary tablet- and phone-charging services.

U.S. Eagle Federal Credit Union is the state’s oldest credit union. Founded in 1935, U.S. Eagle offers a full suite of financial products and services and has nine locations in Albuquerque, Bernalillo, Farmington, and Santa Fe. With assets of more than $900 million and more than 85,000 members, U.S. Eagle is where everyone belongs. Please visit useaglefcu.org.
